THE UNDEFEATED: Hope Bobcats. Hope, who won 12 straight this season, placed second in on the all-district team and Coach John Pierce came in for district honors too. Coach Pierce was picked by other coaches as the District Coach of the Year. Rarely does a mentor win 12 games in his first year as head coach. His team scored 400 points while holding opposition to only 60 points. Only three of the opposition's touchdowns could be called earned, the rest were against the second string players.

Doc Bobcat, Hope's fullback, being selected the outstanding player in the district. The 400-pound Bobcat fullback made the offensive team but was perhaps one of the best defensive players in the district, going into the guard and tackle spots frequently to help stop an opponent march.

John Graves was another defense half but he too could just as easily have made the offensive team. In fact all the Hope players made the district but only the four mentioned made the offensive team. Jerry Thurman, offensive tackle, was one of the defensive end; Winston Duke, offensive guard and Roy Rowe, offensive center. It was Hope's first undefeated season and their first undisputed district title.

Brookwood 5th grade had charge of the annual "Giving program" Wednesday, with the following students taking part:

Reports Reds Trying to Win Over Africa

By PHYLLIS BATELLE

NEW YORK — Dr. Michael Wood is a mountain of a man who lives on the side of Mount Kilimanjaro. He has a quietude of children and almost a continence of crippled and diseased patients. He offers them his services free. There are differences, however, between Dr. Mike Wood and his friend Albert Schweitzer, whom he calls "The Conscience of Africa." Schweitzer can wait for the world to come to him; Wood is too impatient.

The continent of Africa is poised between the East and West," he said. The battle of ideologies is being fought out in Africa. I can't tell you how strong the Communist influence is at the moment, but I know there's a very continental plan to conquer my continent — and I know we're never going to defeat communism by sitting around saying "which side is in the fence are we going to jump on?"

"What we need to do is set up such a big electric current along the fence that the people will jump over on our side."

And how does the West make

For the first time in the history of the Bobcat football team the words are true. Oh, sure, the Bobcats made some mistakes. They were made in that respect.

But in the Win column of statistics, they made a clean sweep.

There are three factors that combined to make that possible: training, coaching and teamwork.

First, the Bobcats of '58 realized that each cog in a machine must be in good condition. When the machine is human, the mechanical training and constant pressure

CURT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—Fire destroyed four rooms of Le Brooks' five-room frame home today. Fortunately, a sock containing the Brooks' life savings was hidden in the fifth room.

Firemen recovered the sock and the $1,500 it contained after quenching the blaze.

Neighbors had to restrain Mr. Brooks from rushing back into the burning house to save the money and the Brooks' pet dog, in which the sock was hidden. The dog suffocated.

Nixon Laid an Egg in Scare Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Miss R...

He conducted a years campaign against the Democrats in the 1966 election drive and urged all Republican candidates for Congress to do the same. "I didn't vote. The Republicans suffered disaster. This week it was disclosed that Nixon two weeks before the November elections, sent a telegram to all the Republican candidates giving them advice on how to win and urging them to fight along the lines he suggested."

But, as the elections showed, he would pour insight on how the voters would go and he was wrong in his guess on how to win.

His telegram, sent Oct. 19, suggested the stump campaign.

"As far as our opponents are concerned, they offer again nothing new but a return to the racial policies that in 20 years failed to produce prosperity except war or as a result of war."

TOKYO (AP) — The United States and Japan will resume negotiations next week on revision of their 1951 security treaty, Foreign Minister Aichihiro Fujiyama said today.

Official Says Private Schools 'Here to Stay'

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—W. Goodman member of the board of the Little Rock Private School Corp., told a segregationist organization last night he felt private schools were "here to stay."

"If we are not free," he declared, "we bought and paid for them. It cost you just as much to send your poor kids to a public school as it cost a private school."

The corporation has established a segregated high school to teach white students displaced by the closing of Little Rock's four public high schools in the integration dispute. Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who shut down the schools to head off racially mixed classes, backs the corporation school which has about 450 pupils.

President Richard M. Nixon showed kind words on Nelson A. Rockefeller in a bantering exchange with Oxford University students today.

He said the wealthy Republican governor-elect of New York will make a splendid governor and would be an excellent campaigner and a fine candidate if nominated for the presidency in 1968.

Several students tried to pose teasing questions about the New York elections and particularly about Rockefeller. The Republican visitor wasn't ruffled.

"New York was one of the bright spots in the elections," he replied. "Nelson Rockefeller is one of the best candidates I have ever seen in public life.

"I think he will make a splendid governor."

The National Honor Society Enjoys Thanksgiving Dinner In Graves Home

The National Honor Society of Hope High School enjoyed a Thanksgiving dinner at the home of John Graves on Tuesday evening, Nov. 25. The Thanksgiving motif was carried out in all decorations. David Watkins voiced the blessing. Games were led by John Graves. Sandra Hobbs and Ann Cole directed the presentation of skits and stunts.

Others present were Mrs. B. N. Hall, the sponsor and fifteen new members. The new members are Mary Margaret Daniels, Elaine Thomason, Judy Rateliff, Brenda Hahn, Jimmy Tate, Sara Ellis, Linda Purdie, Albert Hargis, Jean Harris, Mary Sanford, Mary Ruth Callahan, Polly McCorkle, Loretta Bailey, Winston Duke and Billie Sue Brown.

It was announced that Judy Rateliff was chosen as model pledge and for this honor will be presented with a National Honor Society pin. Sandra Hobbs and Ann Cole assisted Mrs. Graves in dispensing hospitality.

Cosmopolitan Club
Met In Newborn Home
Mrs. George Newbern and Mrs. Kelly Bryant were co-hostesses for a meeting of the Cosmopolitan Club in the Newborn home on November 25. Attractive arrangements of lavender chrysanthemums and white carnations were seen in the home.

During the business meeting, presided over by Mrs. Henry Haynes, the group decided to have its Christmas meeting on December 16 instead of its regular fourth Tuesday in the month.

Mrs. P. L. Perkins gave a clever review of the book, "Lord, What a Family," by Robert Lecker. Mrs. R. L. Branch stamped the entire club with her "Secret." It was that the bottoms on her dress had been on a dress worn by her grandmother in 1890.

Pumpkin pie and coffee were the delightful refreshments served by the hostesses to 15 club members.

Fulton Rose Garden Club
Met Nov. 20

Mrs. Charles Rowland and Mrs. James Rowland were hostesses to the Fulton Rose Garden Club at their home Thursday evening Nov. 20. Thanksgiving arrangements used to decorate the home.

The president, Mrs. Aggie Gilbert conducted the business meeting and appointed Mrs. Kenneth Cox, chairman of the committee to decorate the Christmas tree to be placed on the triangle near the Union Church on highway 55.

Mrs. J. E. Odum gave an interesting talk on "What to do for outdoor plants" and Mrs. Olin Hughes, "What to do for indoor plants in November."

In the contests Mrs. Sam McGill won first place in one and Mrs. Aggie Gilbert, Mrs. Claude Wilson and Mrs. T. H. Seymour tied for first place in the second.

Mrs. Herbert Cox and Mrs. Jim Moore displayed an arrangement of chrysanthemums.

The hostesses assisted by Mrs. D. K. Dickinson served a delightful salad and dessert plate to the members and Mrs. Larnar Williams, Mrs. Ernest Morrison, Mrs. Claude Wilson and Mrs. Otis Blackwood, guests.

Miss Leona Ridgill
Bride-Elect Honored
Miss Leona Ridgill bride-elect of Don Kauffman was honored with a miscellaneous shower Tuesday evening November 25, in the home of Mrs. Ruel Bright who was assisted by Mrs. Joe McCulley, Miss Betty McCulley, and Miss Velora Bright.

The honored was given a corsage of pink rose buds which she pinned to her white lace sheath dress. Yellow mums were also presented to the bride-elect. Mrs. Ernest Ridgill and Mrs. John Kauffman, mother of the bridegroom, elected.

The party rooms were decorated with lovely arrangements of roses and chrysanthemums. The dining table was laid with a white lace cloth and center with a mass arrangement of chrysanthemums flanked by glowing glitter candles. Several interesting games were played throughout the evening, with prizes being won by Mrs. Henry Graff, Miss Margie Vickers, and Mrs. Dwight Ridgill. The main he voters are taking a grave risk that their taxes will be raised, prices will skyrocket and unemployment will increase because of the stifling effect of the anti-private enterprise policies of the radical wing of the Democratic party."

When Nixon sent his telegram, he had campaigned around the country and knew that various polls were predicting a Democratic sweep. But he said in his message:

"I am convinced that if I were hammer on this line from now to election day we could blitz the opposition and shift thousands of votes in close races throughout the country."

Perhaps what Nixon said in his telegram and what he thought privately were not necessarily the same thing. His office said this week that not long before the election the vice president took a more realistic view of what lay ahead.

Nevertheless, in his telegram he said: "As to our prospects, I believe that as we enter the last two weeks of the campaign there is no question but that the tide that was running so strongly against us has taken a sharp turn in our favor."

But the tide which rolled in on election day almost drowned the Republican party.

Nixon urged the Republicans, while conducting the scare campaign he suggested, to wear a kind of Sunny Jim look.

"From now on in press conferences and speeches, all Republican candidates and spokesmen should radiate optimism and should be on the offensive. There must not be any more defensive, apologetic, defeatist talk," he said.

Nixon urged the Republicans to get "rock-on-suck-em" tactics when he won election to the Senate in 1950 and again when he and President Eisenhower won in 1952 together with their fellow Republicans who that year got control of Congress.

But in the three elections since then — in 1954, 1956 and again in 1958 — all Nixon's tough campaigning wasn't convincing enough to persuade the voters Republicans should run Congress.

In all the elections since 1954 — including 1956 when Eisenhower and Nixon won a second term — the voters turned their backs on the Republicans as a party and gave control of Congress to the Democrats.

Perhaps now Nixon, after some self-examination and examination of the results of three elections in a row, may decide to change his tactics when he seeks the Republican presidential nomination in 1960, as he almost certainly will.

Teen-agers, as well as their mothers, can develop lumps, bumps and flabbiness even though they aren't a tremendous weight problem. The way to get rid of the bumps is by doing exercises. This girl trims down her waistline (left) by touching her toes twenty times a day. She keeps knees straight and feet together. For the hips, the best solution (center) is to rock back and forth so that you literally bump the bumps from your hips. Sit with feet crossed and hands on knees. Shift your whole weight from one side to the other. For lithe lines and a taller look, stretch! This girl trims body lines (right) by stretching first to the left and then to right with one hand held high over her head and other hand on knee. None of these exercises are difficult to do and none of them are time-consuming. But all of them pay off in a trimmer figure.

Fire Takes Heavy Toll of Children

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ten children and a mother and father perished in three Thanksgiving Day fires. Flames roared through two private dwellings and a private home for children.

At Oklahoma City, five youngsters in a nine-room private home for handicapped children were killed. Seventeen other children were carried to safety. The cause of the blaze was not immediately determined, but firemen guessed that a defective gas heater could have started it.

At Little Rock, Ark., a mother and father and four children lost their lives when flames raced through their small frame house. Another child, the only survivor, was hospitalized with burns. Cause of the fire was not determined.

At Milford, Conn., a 3-year-old girl died when fire, started by a faulty space heater, swept the frame home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest DuMont.

Eight years ago, the DuMonts then living in Claremont, N. H., watched their first four children perish in a fire, also caused by a space heater. They started another family, consisting of two sons and the victim of Thursday's fire, in Little Tamora.

Hits Show That Trades on Human Misery

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press International in NEW YORK (UPI)—It seems entirely fitting on a day devoted to the memory of the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. that the night version of "It Could Be You," a series of sketches, should be a part of the sweepings from "This Is Your Life" and the debut of "Strike It Rich." It is, like each of these, a peep show, a pious trader in human misery, bleeding its victims on stage and then salving its conscience — and the conscience of its audience — by throwing its victims the sop of a few hundred dollars or a piece of merchandise.

Thursday night remake Bill Levy helped launch the show by offering for the delectation of viewers. A couple, deeply in debt, whose blind baby needed an operation, a woman who had just lost her husband, a man who had lost his job, a little girl whose dog, "Perky," had died.

The couple got $1,000, the woman got to see her husband, the old man got a new horse and the young girl got a new dog. However, it was typical of this whole circus of melancholy that before the young girl got her dog, she had to listen to emcee LeVey solemnly intone:

"I know Perky isn't alive any more, but in the darkest heaven... I should be added that 'It Could Be You' replaces 'Concealment' which, in turn, replaced 'Twenty One' only a few weeks ago. I don't think of any recent happening which so clearly indicates the bankruptcy of TV and its programming.

"The Return of Ansel Cubaris" on Thursday night's CBS-TV "Playhouse 90" was several cuts under the level set so far this season by the drama show. Seriously, it was devoted to a portrait of the man of intellect, the rational man, but it seemed any thing but a man of intellect. He struck me as a furious, arrogant, rational, however, was that I contained large stretches of tedious, unbelievable, so-called muddy scenes and just plain dull scenes. Call him prejudiced if you will, said the doctor, but he believes the best way to win the Africans is to give him health. "The mental level of the African, as with any one else, depends largely on the physical condition."

Dr. Wood, a British surgeon, went to Kenya for his health in 1947. Where he intended to continue his medical practice. But he discovered that the people who needed reconstructive surgery most were the penniless (rather, shillingless) ones.

"There is the same incidence of all civilized diseases in Africa as in the United States, and a great many more specialized tropical diseases — yaws, leprosy, elephantitis — which eat the body away."

"Burned faces and figures are more common than in civilized communities. The people sleep and wake around central fires in huts. Children are constantly rolling into the fire. Huts are constantly burning down. And the need for surgery becomes even greater because these people are too far away from help to report their accidents, and too ignorant to disease to realize they have it until very late."

"The central slab of Africa is as large in area as the United States, and has just as great an incidence of cancer. Yet there is not one hospital in the entire area to treat it."

Dr. Wood paused, lit a cigarette, smiled. He had come, quite obviously, to the point.

"Dr. Schweitzer," he said, "is the most humble person. People come to see him and donate to him. I," he shrugged, "go to people."

He is in the U.S., he went on to explain, as non-profit "African Relief" and, frankly, is trying to raise interest (and money) for aradiotherapy, research and surgery hospital to be built in Nairobi, Kenya.

The foundation is also beginning a long-term project of research, exchange, fellowships, which will enable American doctors to study Africa's peculiar health problems for the doctors to study in the U.S.

"Once again the United States — such a healthy country — is being asked to help a poor and not so healthy one. You may say this is an old story," he said.

"But this time it may be different. The basic problem of this half of the century has been a problem of race relations. And as I said, the battle of ideologies is at its height in Africa."

Hostesses Play Cinderella Jet-age Style

Woman's View
By GAY PAJLEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two airline stewardesses know what it's like to play Cinderella — jet-age style. Janet Mick and Sidney Sperbeck went around the world in a new airplane which they probably won't fly again.

The girls spent two months helping demonstrate the plane Lockheed's Electra turbo-jet, to officials of about 15 countries and to firms interested in buying the aircraft. It will be introduced in American Airlines' service Jan. 23.

"We couldn't imagine why we were called to New York. We were told only that it was a special assignment. We both had done modeling, so we figured it had something to do with that," said Miss Mick, a pretty brunette from Westmont, N.J.

Spent Week Training
She and Miss Sperbeck, a vivacious blonde from Los Angeles, spent a week in training. The plane's learned to explain the plane's new features and to handle emergency.

New are a push-button kitchen and buffet serving cart 17 ft. in which passengers can help themselves.

Flight time is much shorter than on present piston-powered aircraft, so stewardesses must work faster. The re-designed kitchens make the task easier. At time-consuming steps, eliminate stopping and usual cooking methods. Even coffee is brewed push-button fashion in three minutes.

After training, the girls pack their bags — about four each, which increased to eight pieces on the journey — and set off from Burbank, Calif., for Montreal. From there they flew to New Scotland and Iceland — where women were dressed elegantly in New York and Paris gowns.

Near Riot In Turkey
On to Amsterdam for the weekend, then to Brussels, Copenhagen, Stockholm, Oslo and Istanbul in Turkey, they shopped in bazaars and headed off a near riot when cab drivers and passers-by shoved aside VIP's for a look at the plane.

Next stop, New Delhi, where the hostesses welcomed aboard such celebrities as Prime Minister Nehru, Indira Gandhi and her two children, and the U. S. ambassador to India.

The girls also managed to squeeze in a moonlight flight to see the Taj Mahal.

Then they flew to the Middle East, visiting Cairo and Beirut. Then to Athens, Rome, Paris, London, Germany, Scotland and Ireland.

The crew logged 27,000 miles from point to point and 26,000 miles on demonstration flights — 32 in all. Some 3,000 persons made the flights, which were scheduled about three times a day.

"We know so much about the Electra, but we're based in Los Angeles, and the airline won't be flying it from there. It's really rather sad," said the girls.

Contents Stomach Delays Drunkenness

RANDERS, Denmark (AP) — A local businessman contends that he's a delayed action drunk, because of a stomach operation.

"When I drink I'm like a time bomb," he told a Randers court today. "Since doctors removed the greater part of my stomach, I don't get drunk like other people. I am sober when others in the party are loading up, and I get drunk while the others have hangovers."

A sobriety test taken hours after the man was involved in a traffic accident showed a high percentage of alcohol in his blood. He said he felt intoxicated at the time of the test but that he was sober when he drove his car because of the reduced stomach. Doctors said he may have a point. The judge postponed court action until next week.

Children Dicker Parents Bicker

Dear Dorothy Dix:

My parents occupy the apartment next to ours. My brother owns a home a few miles away. As long as I can remember, my parents haven't gotten along. Why they did not separate years ago, I don't know. I guess they hated to break up because of our children. When my brother and I were young, mother would always go out with me and Dad would take his son to company. Now mother comes to me to complain and my father goes to my brother to do the same thing. I think Dad should visit his son without complaining about mother. I've told mother the same thing. My brother and I understand our parents and things would have gone along like this forever. I guess if my sister-in-law hadn't stepped into the picture, she'd be a good wife. Dad is a home, for payment of course. He's considering it. Do you think the older folks will be happier if they separate like this? — Grace J.

Dear Grace: Your parents give the impression that they're against each other but I'll hazard a guess that they love each other and are happy even in their disagreements. It's very hard for two people who have lived together for nearly 45 years, even in disharmony, to go apart. Dad is flattered at your sister-in-law's offer but if he moves he won't be happy. He's grown accustomed to your mother's face — as well as her cooking, house, hold routine, her tempers and her silences. He blows off when he wants to and is secure in the knowledge that his patient wife will understand. Will his daughter-in-law be equally tolerant? I doubt it. It would be best to let things ride. Have your sister-in-law draw the offer and let your parents argue until their hearts are content.

Dear Dorothy Dix:
Two months ago I met a man who had recently been transferred here. It was love at first sight for both of us and we plan to be married in a few months. Naturally I want to meet his family and more or less expected him to take me along when he went home for the holidays. However, he bought one round-trip ticket. Should I ask why he didn't buy two tickets? — Lisa R.

Dear Lisa: He just isn't ready to spring you on his family. Make sure your family doesn't consist of wife and kids, then be grateful he bought a round-trip ticket.

Dear Dorothy Dix:
I am and the Right Visitor on ABC-TV Dec. 11.

I'm going with a married man who is separated from his wife. We plan to get married as soon as his divorce is granted. We're very happy together but I nag him a lot. I'm intensely jealous and if he can't account for all his time I get suspicious. If I can't cure myself I'll drive him away — B. S.

Dear B. S.: Your jealousy and suspicion are not without cause. After all, if you could take him away from his wife, anyone can get him away from you. You know this, too. It's the big black shadow that follows every girl who has taken a man from his wife.

Dear Dorothy Dix:
Harry is a very nice boy and I like him a lot, but he never makes any plans for a date. He always calls in the morning and asks twice a month and makes a date for that evening. The last time I talked to him on the phone, my sister shouted from the next room: "Tell him you've got a date. Maybe a little competition will wake him up." He heard her and when he asked what she meant, I said I didn't know. I don't have many dates so he has to give up the few I have — Gabrielle.

Dear Gabrielle: We rarely appreciate things that can be taken for granted. The boy knows you're always available and dates you when he's exhausted ever other possibility. If you don't have dates with boys, get out more with your friends. Keep busy and you'll have something to do the next time he calls.

Saenger Sunday and Monday

A star studded cast, which includes Robert Mitchum, Robert Wagner, Richard Egan, May Britt and Lee Phillips, are in the highly jet age motion picture, "The Hunters", showing Sunday and Monday at the Saenger Theater in Hope. Dick Powell produced and directed the DeLuxe color and Cinemascope presentation.

Saenger Saturday 11 p. m. Show

Julius LaRosa stars with an all star cast in "Let's Rock" showing tonight at 11 p. m. Starring with LaRosa are Phyllis Newman and the new blonde bombshell of the screen, Joy Harman. Second half of this terrific double feature is "The Time To Be Young", the story of today's "Get Lost" generation.

Saenger Wednesday - Thursday

Coming Soon at the Saenger Theater

Tom Tyrone and Gloria Talbott star in "I Married A Monster From Outer Space" coming soon to the Saenger.

closed yesterday and he had no idea how the blaze originated. Firemen from Conway rushed to the scene but were hampered by freezing weather and absence of a water supply. Ed Strentz, owner of the building, said damage was partly covered by insurance. Queen Victoria was awakened at five o'clock in the morning to be told that she was Queen of Great Britain.

GOD

... give us hearts of gratitude on this Thanksgiving Day. May the dignity and the solemnity of the occasion of Thanksgiving warm our hearts as individuals, as families, as nations. As we express gratitude for the favors of mercy, may we be conscious of the fact... they all come from God. May we know the full meaning of historic Plymouth landing. Let us be reminded anew that freedom began there... and to worship God according to the dictates of our own hearts was guaranteed when the Pilgrim Fathers stepped ashore. Then, let us not fail to humbly recognize God as the Giver of life,—the Provider of all goods,—and the Savior of the souls of men... AMEN

The Ninety and Nine Were Safe, — But One!?

FANCY YANCY — One of the sharpest-looking troubleshooters on the TV screen these days is one-time movie stunt man Jock Mahoney, who plays the title role in "Yancy Derringer." Providing love interest is Frances Bergen. A Western? A Southern, huh. New Orleans, that is.

GLAD TIDINGS — Limbering up as the tide comes in at Miami Beach, Fla., Carol Jane Abney brightens the see-side at this resort. A student of ballet in New York, she likes to keep in shape on vacations.

A CIRCUS — "White Elephant" is the name London designer Frank Usher has given to this evening dress, and it appears to be an apt choice. Made of white plique, the dress has a ponderous "trunk" falling behind.
